Twelfth Night Dinner Dance and Play to be Social Affair of Year

Very originally worded announcement cards will herald the coming dinner-dance and "Twelfth Night" festivities at Pine Inn. This will be an occasion both interesting and unique.

As every one should know, "Twelfth Night" gets its name from the old English custom of finishing the holiday festivities twelve nights after Christmas, and it will be celebrated here on next Saturday evening. An inn, with its note of English cheer and hospitality, is the logical place for such a celebration and what more natural than for it to be at Pine Inn, which was associated so much with Carmel's early history and which the people have always wanted to love and be proud of.

At last, the spirit of hospitality and community effort has materialized in the Pine Inn's present owner, John B. Jordan. He wants a Little Theater and he wants the Carmel people to find a real home atmosphere at the Inn, so he said:

"You folks furnish the crowd and the program and I'll furnish the dinner."

Can anything beat that for generosity? The Little Theater gets the entire proceeds and Mr. Jordan gets the expense and the bother and the cleaning-up and the feeling that he's done a big thing for the community.

The program for the evening will have a consistently old-English flavor. There will be the Lord of Misrule and his pages who will joke and banter and play tricks and generally direct affairs; there will be four lovely girls, dressed in costumes of the period who will serve the plentiful wassail; there will be Frederick MacMurray to give informally some of his lovely viola solos and our own Tom Cater to help with the incidental music for the play; and there will be those lovely little fairies who danced at the Arts and Crafts Christmas play. Mrs. Phil K. Gordon is to give the kiddies a party some place in the Inn and little Kevin Wallace will be the host. They will give their dancing number as one of the interludes.

Very appropriate to the occasion will be the dramatic offering by Herbert Heron. It will consist of scenes from Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." Mr. Heron has chosen seven scenes, all rich comedy, and, by judicious cutting and rearrangement made them into a compact short play. At one time following Shakespeare's death, the play was presented under the title of "Malvolio, or What You Will." Mr. Heron calls his adaptation by this name, as the lines which he has chosen give the complete Malvolio story.

His method of presentation will be absolutely original. The settings and costumes will be in pure black and white. The only touch of color will be Malvolio's yellow stockings. The lighting will be simple but effective.

The star part will be played by T. G. Fisher, who will be remembered as having done most effective work in Mr. Hilliard's recent one-act play, "A Night at an Inn." George Dorwart will play Sir Toby Belch. Blanche Tolmie will appear as Olivia, and Constance Heron as Maria.

Mrs. Phil K. Gordon is the directing spirit of the whole affair, and is ably assisted by John B. Jordan and Herbert Heron. It is a foregone conclusion that Mrs. Gordon's reputation for thoroughness and originality will not suffer at the hands of those who are fortunate enough to attend. As the capacity of the Inn is necessarily limited, but a hundred tickets can be sold. These will be issued to the first to make reservations.

A number of patrons and patronesses have consented to lend their support to the occasion, and in addition to the dramatic interest, it promises to be the social event of the season. In this way many of those in Carmel who have thus far not been able to join in the movement to secure a community playhouse will have the opportunity to do their part in securing funds for this building.

Christmas Masque at Arts and Crafts Hall Big Feature

A kaleidoscope of color flashed in and around Arts and Crafts Hall last Saturday. It was a wonderful Christmas celebration. It made one wish that every day was Christmas and that every day would see such a festival.

First, the vibrations of pink and blue and delicate baby colors, when the kiddies played their games and sang and danced around the Christmas tree. They sang the old English folk-songs and then a big man carrying the wassail bowl led a small boy pulling the Yule log with a tiny fairy seated upon it. Then old Santa Claus arrived and when the kiddies all promised to be good for another year—what a price to pay for a toy—the old tree fairly rained down presents. There were dolls and games and mechanical toys and candies and sweetmeats and cookies. Every small stomach was bursting with food and every small heart was bursting with joy, but the grown-ups needed the hall for their play, so they hired the Sandman to come early and lure the little ones away, and, as the older ones were coming back anyway, the party was over by 7 o'clock.

The play was done in fine, soft, glowing tones. Ira Remsen knows his Carmel; he also knows—and intimately—the spirit of childhood. It was a beautiful play. We should have more of its type in Carmel. It was conceived with a delicate imagination and a poetic fancy, and John Hilliard's art transferred it to the stage so that a community might enjoy it.

At the opening, a note of intimacy with the audience was struck, when Frederick Becholdt, as "The Shepherd at the Fire," told in simple language the story of Christmas, and bade the masque proceed.

At the drawing of the curtain, the shepherds on the stage standing motionless in the background, were as beautiful a picture as has ever been shown on the Arts and Crafts stage. Their mellow, musical voices, the fine spirituality of facial expression, brought out the sheer beauty of lines and thought that had been used in the making of the play. The shepherds were played by Joseph Bletch, Mrs. Susan Porter and Grant Wallace.

Next danced down the angel from the very tip-top of the Christmas tree. It seems grossly material to give all of these characters ordinary human names, but we must do it. The shimmering, scintillating angel was Mrs. Ruth Katter, and she gave to the part a witchery and a charm, and her plaintive voice tempered a childish frivolity with a decided note of pathos.

Nobody in the whole world could have been the funny, jolly, much-abused "Roots-of-the-tree" as well as Perry Newberry.

Jerry Morrow had a wonderful make-up as "Jack-in-the-box." He looked as natural as life. The only thing we didn't recognize was his voice.

Austin James rolled around as a real Plum Pudding, and the little "stomach" ache, Ross Burton, stuck tighter to him than a brother.

Of course, we shouldn't ever dare to tell who Santa Claus was. He was—well—he was just Santa Claus, but Bill Kibbler dressed him up and Santa Claus knows Bill so well that their voices sound alike.

Many a masculine heart in the audience envied the lucky ones who were to receive the parcels. The face that stuck out of the one that came from Holland reminded me of Tilly Polak's piquant features, and the shiny one that looked as though it might hold a diamond tiara was suspiciously like Hilda Argo. Hart Rogers was sure he must be a neekie, but we all thought he was a mighty funny boy with a voice and intonation that gave promise for something big in a career when some more Christmases have come and gone.

Steve Glassell had the time of his life marking time as a soldier. He was supported on either side by Bobbie Hilliard and Grace Wickham, the toy soldiers. Christine Burton and Moira

Wallace were beautiful French dolls. Virginia Burton and Viola Parker turned around as clown dolls, and Irene Gould and Ann Clute, the Dutch dolls, clumped and thumped, and Vivian Edler, Vera Basham and Agnes Parker were wreaths. Clayton Leitch and Billy Brown were peppermints; Ann Greene was a bunch of grapes and Billy Argo and Charles Brooks were nice yellow oranges. And the big policeman, Arthur Shand, kept them all in order and made arrests every once in a while. It was a great night.

And the fairies—everybody just loved them. They danced and pirouetted and posed and fluttered around just like real fairies, and after it was all over they changed back into humans and became little children and their names were Valentine Porter, Florence Brown, Patty Johnson, Hortense Spoehr, Virginia Radcliffe, Jean Basham, Mildred Pearson and Kathleen and Rosalie Murphy.

John Hilliard tackled a tremendous job when he attempted to produce the play in a little over a week, but he succeeded and it will linger in our minds for a long time as being a delightful fantasia and the finest community affair we have ever had at Christmas.

The names of those who assisted are legion. Besides those mentioned last week we are told that Mrs. Schuyler worked like a Trojan on the costumes, and we feel that all Carmel would like to tender an appreciation to Mrs. Jeane Burton for her enthusiastic and inspirational work in connection with this and other community events. In her play with the kiddies she was the Christmas thought made manifest, and in the masque, she was the one to do everything that no one else wanted to do. Of such is our community spirit.

The evening closed with a dance. We danced to Moffett's orchestra, on a confetti, serpentine-covered floor; everybody smiled and beamed at everybody else; the roulette wheel spun merrily to the lucky numbers that drew prizes, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ramsey were acclaimed the best waltzers in the room by a committee of experts. Ernest Schwenninger manipulated the roulette wheel and the dance in general, and everybody went home tired and happy.

Business Men of Carmel Organize

A general meeting of those who are conducting business concerns in Carmel is called to take place at the city hall next Thursday evening.

A meeting was held Tuesday afternoon to form a business people's organization. The following were present: T. L. Edler, R. C. DeVoe, R. G. Leidig, J. L. Williams, B. G. Newell, C. C. Hogan, L. S. Slevin, J. B. Jordan, W. L. Overstreet, H. P. Glassell, Charles Frank and C. O. Gould.

L. S. Slevin was elected temporary secretary, and R. C. DeVoe and W. L. Overstreet were selected to attend a meeting of Peninsula commercial bodies last Wednesday evening.

It is expected that every business concern will have a representative at the meeting next Thursday night.

Election Precincts United

For the special election to be held on January 30th to choose a successor to the late Senator Elmer S. Rigdon, No. 3 precinct will comprise Carmel 1 and 2, Cooper, Sur and Tulareitos. The election officers will be Charles O. Gould, inspector; William T. Kibbler, judge, and W. E. Martin and L. E. Payne, clerks.

Historic Sherman Rose Evermore to Blush Unseen

The famous Sherman rose, which has been for nearly three-quarters of a century one of the greatest attractions that Monterey has had to offer to the tourists that visit the historic city every summer, fell a victim to the march of progress last week when it was removed from its place and taken to the mesa behind the home of J. C. Anthony, where it will be replanted.

The history of the rose and how it received its name forms an interesting part of the many legends which surround the early years of the city of Monterey. It was supposed to have been planted about 1850 when William Tecumseh Sherman was the lieutenant of artillery stationed at the presidio of Monterey.

According to the legend, Sherman fell in love with Senorita Bonifacio, a young Monterey girl, and intended to make her his wife, but was transferred to another post. Before his departure, the legend runs, the young officer and his sweetheart planted the rose bush and he pledged his troth to return "when the roses bloom again."

Senorita Bonifacio waited patiently for years for Sherman's return, which did not take place until 1880, when he visited Monterey in company with President Hayes. Great was the celebration when the presidential party came up Alvarado street, which had been decked for the occasion with green pines, and proceeded to Colton Hall, where both Sherman and the President spoke to the multitude. It was then that Sherman, a full general in the army, was supposed to have seen Senorita Bonifacio for the last time. He never returned.

Senorita Bonifacio lived to be an old woman, but never married. The famous rose grew to be a large tree stretching over an arbor. It has now been moved to make way for a new street, but will doubtless live for many years in its new location and in the gardens of those who have taken slips.

Peninsula Publicists to Push Propaganda

Publicity and promotion for the Monterey Peninsula are being worked out by the newspapermen's publicity committee, with the assistance of the Monterey Chamber of Commerce, the Pacific Grove Chamber of Commerce and an organization to be formed in Carmel.

Present plans are to work out a system of co-operative organization with civic groups, in order to enable effective promotion work inclusive of the entire Peninsula.

The committee has felt that publicity as to its own efforts at this time would be useless, until a definite program has been mapped out and it is hoped that within the next few weeks a program of interest will be announced.

New Owners Improving the Rancho La Playa

The new owners of the Signor property, the Rancho La Playa, ten miles up the Carmel valley, are now on the ground, and improvements are the order of the day. The rancho was sold to Messrs. Hans Herwart and Rudolph Isenburg. Mr. Herwart has been in this country but a short time, coming over from Germany with Mr. Isenburg, whose home was in Honolulu, where the family have extensive sugar interests. The ranch will be run by Jean Le Peune and his wife from Oakland. Emil Haendorf also came from Germany with Mr. Herwart, and is on the rancho.

The property is a fine one, comprising seventy-seven acres, with fruit trees and a fine vegetable garden. It has its own electric light plant, and is within easy distance, by a good road, of Carmel or Monterey.

Sunset at Carmel

Roberta Balfour Thudichum

*The Sun, a Chinese lantern, dips beyond the dunes
Veiled in sheer mists, his splendor dimmed.
And then, like Venus, throbbing rose,
He dances in and out his gauzy screen,
Orientalwise and rainbow-rimmed.*

*Like incense held in censers bronze and gold,
Pale acolytes swing gently to and fro;
Burning desire sets all his heart aglow;
Larger and larger still he grows and beckons
To Orient and rainbow rim.*

*Once more swung high in measured banter,
He laughs and puffs his bellied curves—
A vivid bowl from gold to scarlet flame—
Then drops in faintest lucent tints,
Pale pink and mauve.*

*Gray fogs envelop all the bay;
The sea breaks on sharp cliffs in emerald foam.
Night—and the muffled signal from far gunboats
Anchored up the coasts of rest.
Sunset at Carmel.*

Over-the-Holiday Social Affairs

Arts and Crafts Annual Breakfast

The annual breakfast of the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts will take place next Thursday at 1 p. m. This is one of the most interesting and profitable community events that we have. The flow of wit, the repartee, the good feeling that prevails, and the general get together spirit that is engendered sets us all on the right track for the tasks of the new year.

The Josselyns Entertain

One of the most enjoyable of the holiday social events was the gathering at the Josselyn home last week. Supper was served, and was followed by a dance. Among those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Jo Mora, Col. and Mrs. F. Dutton, Mrs. Helen Mueth, Mrs. Hilda Argo, Mr. and C. K. Van Riper, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Remsen, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Josselyn, Ferdinand Bergdorff, Frederick and Harrison Godwin and Ernest Schweninger.

Many Year-Enders at Pine Inn

Pine Inn is taxed to its fullest capacity for the New Year. Many well-known people from all parts of the coast are there. Among those who were guests at the Inn at Christmas are: Judge Dudley Kinsell and his wife from "My City Oakland"; Frank C. Watson, prominent Oakland realtor and wife; E. B. Field and family, also from Oakland; W. S. Howard and family of San Francisco; Helen Thomson and Miss Ruggles of San Rafael; Edna Beatty of Haywards; Walter M. Briggs and family of Pleasanton; Ed. Garrett and William Crim of Alameda; Edith Bridges of Piedmont; Mrs. John Collier and family of Mill Valley; Pauline Gunthorp of Berkeley and Louise W. Kutz of Stanford University.

The Murphys Entertain

The Michael Murphys certainly had some Christmas celebration. There was a gathering of the clan from far and near. There were the Murphys themselves with Franklin home from the University of California for the holidays; the Walter Bashams; Mr. Murphy's sisters, Anna James of Los Angeles, Myrtle Le Maitre of San Francisco and their mother, Mrs. Emma Murphy, who is one of the old-timers of Carmel. Twelve of the party went in swimming Christmas morning. Take note, all ye Easterners, who were shivering at 20 below!

At the Shipley Home

Mrs. L. A. Shipley had for holiday guests, Mr. and Mrs. John McEwen of San Francisco. On Christmas Eve, Mrs. Shipley entertained a number of her Carmel friends—among them Mr. and Mrs. David Alberto, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blethen, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Byrnes, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Glassell, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Jordan, Ed Davidson, Elizabeth White and Mr. Passalunque.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

That satisfied customers are the greatest asset a business can have.
That courtesy, service, price and quality merchandise keep them satisfied.

That advertising brings new customers.

That the up-to-date merchandiser who advertises gets them.

That a merchant who does not keep up-to-date loses them. Keep up to date.

That the persistent advertiser can always say "Business is good and getting better."

That the progressive, up-to-date citizens who believe in their city and boost toward making it a better city in which to live and make a living, are the ones who make better business.

That they read the advertisements and believe in buying from the live merchants so the home money can circulate through business channels and work for the whole community.

That they realize that what benefits their city benefits the citizenship in general.

That to be known as a live, up-to-date city brings more business.

CAN NOW VOTE BY MAIL

By the passing of the absent voters amendment at the last election, more work was made for county clerks, whose duty it will be to canvass such returns. This amendment was supposed to have been lost but the official returns last week showed that it carried by about 12,000. The amendment has been on the ballot a number of times but the voters killed it regularly, until this year.

As the name indicates it will now be possible for railroad men, commercial men, soldiers, sailors, tourists and others who are seldom at home election days, to vote. As such persons usually pay taxes, there is no reason why they should lose their votes. Other states have made it possible for them to mail in their votes.

According to the law, a voter who knows that he will be absent, can go before the county clerk and make affidavit to the fact and then it will be the duty of the county clerk to mail the voter his ballot. And the voter will have two weeks after election day to get his ballot in the hands of the county clerk, who will then canvass it.

The absent voters act will have this important bearing. When it comes to close elections where a few hundred or a few thousand votes may change the result, the public will not know who is elected for two weeks after election.

THREE CLASSES OF PEOPLE

Alfred Korzybski, in his "Manhood of Humanity," says that there are three classes of people: 1—Intellectuals; 2—Rich; 3—Poor.

"The Intellectuals are the men and women who possess the knowledge produced by the labor of bygone generations, but do not possess the material wealth thus produced. * * * The rich are those who have possession and control of most of the material wealth produced by the toil of bygone generations. * * * The poor are those who have neither."

Moral: If you're poor and can't get rich, you might get into one of the two successful classes of humanity by reading good books.

Or, as Thoreau put it, "the farmer owns the land, but I own the landscape."—San Jose News.

Goold Makes Offer to Repair City Streets

At the adjourned regular meeting of the city board of trustees on Wednesday evening all the trustees were present except Miss Helen W. Parkes.

Ordinance No. 48, pertaining to the leasing of new quarters, was given second and final reading. Ordinance No. 47, providing officially for a fire department, was read and discussed carefully section by section, and slight amendments were made. At the suggestion of Rudolph Ohm it is proposed that a fund be started which might be used to reimburse the firemen in case of accident, loss of time, or damage to clothing.

Trustee W. L. Maxwell reported on the street work now being done, and enthusiasm was aroused when C. O. Goold offered to personally repair the north and south streets if the board would supply the equipment. He gives time and labor gratis, and believes that he will be able to accomplish much toward remedying the condition of the streets and save them from further damage during the winter.

It was established that the minimum width of sidewalks on Ocean avenue, from Junipero to Monte Verde street, be eight feet and the maximum width twelve feet.

The board adjourned to meet the first Tuesday in January.

Glee Club Enjoying International Fame

Standing alone among the world's college glee clubs, the famous University of California songsters have twice been acclaimed in Europe and twice in the Orient. That they win real praise is evidenced by the press notices they have received.

"The students are great singers."—Berlin Tageblatt.

"The Glee Club puts up an absolutely unique performance—it was so good it was unique."—Shanghai Press.

"U. C. stands for Unqualified Class. The boys met the expectations of the most enthusiastic."—Manila Bulletin.

"It is doubtful if a more enthusiastic audience ever gathered in Manila than that which greeted the U. S. Glee Club. It is certain that no Manila audience ever had more cause for enthusiasm."—Manila Times.

"It may be described as an extraordinarily good musical program."—Hong Kong Morning Post.

"A treat unparalleled in the history of this city."—North China Press.

Merchants Report Big Local Holiday Trade

The merchants of Carmel are enthusiastic about their Christmas business. Never before have so many visitors been in Carmel. This was probably due largely to the fact that the weather was ideal and that Carmel is rapidly becoming known as a winter resort.

Postmistress Stella J. Vincent claims that she and her six assistants handled by far the largest amount of mail in the history of the town and that they would have been utterly swamped had they not had the advantages of the new building. As it was, the majority of the force had worked all of Sunday and Monday.

The election of officers will be held on Wednesday, January 3rd.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rockefeller and Miss Bertha Mayo of Toledo, O., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mayo in the Short cottage here for a few weeks.

Monterey County Billboards Unpopular

Due to the initiative of the Peninsula Publishers' organization, the unsightly billboard, with its blatant colors and advertising of doubtful value, is to go from many of the farms and ranches along the roads of Monterey county. The information comes from an official of the Outdoor Circle, who has been given positive assurance by some of the property owners of the Peninsula, and other parts of the county, that no new boards will go up on their property, and that every effort will be exerted to secure the removal of those already there.

The Circle plans to extend this idea of "Signless Scenery" and it is not improbable that many of the largest property owners will be approached with a request for co-operation on this matter.

County Officials Confer on New Wright Law

Last week there was a conference between Assistant District Attorney Fred Treat and Sheriff-elect W. J. Oyer in Treat's office, the avowed object being the planning of concerted effort to enforce the Wright act, with particular reference to the city of Monterey.

The Wright act will be enforced to the letter in Monterey, according to a statement after the conference, in exactly the same manner as any other statute now in force in California. It was said that the quickest method is through abatement proceedings against the property owners who allow property to be used for unlawful purposes.

BLACK NEW YEAR PUDDING

Ingredients: One cupful black molasses; one cupful thick sour milk; one dessertspoonful soda; beat well. Add one teaspoonful salt; one grated nutmeg; one eighth pound citrus, chopped fine; one-fourth pound suet, chopped fine; four dry figs, chopped fine; one dozen almonds, minced fine; one cupful seeded raisins; three raw tart apples, chopped coarsely; three cupfuls flour. Mix all together, steam in a buttered mold for three hours and dry for 15 minutes in an oven. Serve with any good pudding sauce. This will serve 15 persons.

NEW YEAR'S EGGS.

The Persians still exchange presents of eggs at New Year's just as we do at Easter. But the rest of us now do our giving of presents at Christmas parties, though we may give to each other on January 1. In Scotland and England everybody calls on everybody else New Year's day, and drinks punch. Here in America calling has gone out of style, but if we do nothing more, we at least shout "Happy New Year" to everybody we meet on New Year's morning. When we shout that, we mean good luck to them for all the new year through.

A GOOD RESOLUTION.

A good resolution is the offspring of remorse and regret, who were wedded by experience.

To Welcome the New Year.

A PRETTY ceremony handed down from the past is to open the front door promptly on the stroke of midnight for the passing of the old year to join the centuries of the past, and for the entrance of the baby new year, who is just about to commence his earthly career.

Chocolate Sea-Foam Fudge.

Put over the fire in a clean saucepan one cupful of light brown sugar, a half-cupful of water and a third of a cupful of grated chocolate and boil without stirring until it spins a thread from the point of a spoon. Have beaten stiff the white of an egg; pour the boiling mixture upon it and stir until it begins to stiffen. Drop from a spoon on waxed paper in little bonbons, or pour into a greased pan before it begins to stiffen and mark into squares with a buttered knife.—The Delineator.

Honey Drop Cakes.

One cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of honey, one-half cupful of shortening, four eggs, two cupfuls of milk, two teaspoonfuls of vanilla, one-half teaspoonful of salt, four cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Cream the honey, sugar and shortening together; add well-beaten eggs and vanilla; sift dry ingredients and add alternating with the milk. Mix well; bake in greased muffin tins. These are good if flavored with chocolate, using four squares of baking chocolate or ten tablespoonfuls of coco for this large recipe. They are good iced.

NEW YEAR'S THEN AND NOW.

As long as people can remember, there have been New Year parties. The old Romans gave theirs in honor of Janus, the two-faced god. One face looked back at the old, spent year, and one face looked forward to the new, fresh year. They gave presents to him and to each other with the hope that the new year would be good to them. Some of the people who lived long ago waited until the end of March to celebrate the New Year, since that was the time that the trees and grass began new life.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

The ladies of "Cranford" will receive on New Year's day, together with the officers of the Arts and Crafts Club. The guest of honor will be Madam Gabrielle Woodworth, well known around the bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Beehdolt's home was the scene of a delightful family gathering on Christmas night. Twelve of the relatives were seated around the dinner table. The Beehdolts make this an annual affair.

The John N. Hilliards entertained lavishly at Christmas with a dinner and party, which many of their friends attended. It was a regular frolic, both old and young joining in the games and dancing until an early hour.

Dr. C. L. Thudichum is spending the holidays with his family here. He is located in Los Angeles, where he is practicing the Abrams electronic system of healing. He is accompanied on this trip by a friend, Mortimer Ward, formerly artillery instructor in the British service.

Roberta Balfour Thudichum will in the near future give an exhibition of paintings in which are embodied a new treatment of color, and which are done with the palette knife only. Her Point Lobos canvases are beautiful, and the system which she has developed should be of much interest to lovers of art.

Father Raymond M. Mesires gave communion at Carmelo Mission at 8 a. m. and high mass was celebrated at 9:45 on Christmas day. At San Carlos church in Monterey midnight mass was held to accommodate the Italian and Spanish speaking Catholics who are accustomed to hear mass at that hour on Christmas.

The Reading Circle which has been discontinued during the holidays, will resume on Monday, Jan. 8th. The reading of "Little Dorrit" was the choice for this year. An occasional synopsis is given. All interested are invited. The gatherings are held at 8 p. m. on Monday evenings at Grey Gables, Lincoln and Seventh streets.

At the Carmel Methodist Church on Sunday a strong sermon was given by Rev. Fred Sheldon, the choir rendered two anthems and Millard Williams played Bach's "Aria for G String" during the offertory. On Christmas eve the Sunday school, under the direction of Miss Ella Farrington and Mrs. Fred Sheldon, produced a beautiful pageant. There was a tree, with candy and gifts for all the children.

All Saints' Episcopal Church was beautifully decorated for the holiday season. On Sunday afternoon the service was characterized by the Christmas thought. Millard Williams played from the balcony "Holy Night." The music floated over the worshippers like a benediction. Early service with holy communion was given at 8 o'clock Christmas morning, and at 10:30 there was morning prayer, holy communion and special music consisting of hymns and chants and the beautiful Adams' "Noel," sung by Miss Giacaglia.

Postponed

Just as the Pine Cone goes to press information is brought in that the Arts and Crafts annual New Year breakfast, announced to take place on January 4th, has been postponed.

People in the East want to know about Carmel. Send them the Pine Cone.

Old Year—New Year

NEW Year, New Year,
What do you bring?
Your bag might hold
Anything!

Old Year, Old Year,
What will you do
With all the hope
That I gave you?

There is a moment
When you meet,
Like two travelers
On one street.

Old Year, New Year,
In the sky,
Out where the winds
And ghosts go by.

Old Year, Old Year
What do you say,
Meeting the New on
The Milky Way?

You took from me
Like a thief,
Larkspur joy and
Juniper grief.

But you leave me
One bright hour,
Glad like sun on
A crimson flower.

This is mine
Eternally,
You may not
Take it from me!

New Year, New Year,
What do you
Hear as you pass him
In the blue?

Old Year, Old Year,
Where do you go,
Out on that path
Men do not know?

To Travel Heavenward

TO BE strong and true; to be generous in praise and appreciation of others; to impute worthy motives even to enemies; to give without expectation of return; to practice humility, tolerance and self-restraint; to make the best use of time and opportunity; to keep the mind pure and the judgment charitable; to extend intelligent sympathy to those in distress; to cultivate gentleness and nonresistance; to speak little and listen much; to adhere always to a high standard of thought, purpose and conduct; to grow in grace, goodness and gratitude; to seek truth and righteousness; to work, love, pray and serve fully; to aspire, greatly, labor cheerfully and take God at His word—this is to travel heavenward.—G. Kleiser in Y. M. C. C. Central.

The Indian's Vigil.
In a book of sketches of upper Canada, a pretty incident is related of the writer meeting an Indian at midnight, on Christmas Eve, during a beautiful moonlight, cautiously creeping along, and beckoning him to silence. In answer to an inquiry the Indian said: "Me watch to see the deer kneel; this is Christmas night, and all the deer fall upon their knees to the Great Spirit and look up."

TICKETS for the Twelfth Night Festival at Pine Inn will be placed on sale at Pine Inn at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning, January 2. There are only one hundred tickets. First come, first served.

Pine Cone's Log of Literature & Art

Sophie Treadwell, Former Carmelite, Writes Successful Play

A recent number of the New York Times gives the following criticism of Sophie Treadwell's play, "Gringo," which is now playing at the Comedy Theater in New York:

There is no effort to make melodrama sympathetic in Sophie Treadwell's new play of American life in Mexico. Plot and counterplot abound, with fiercely contending passions of life and hate and considerable sums in gold dust at stake. Now and again there is the swirl of a machete or the flash of gun-play. But the quarry that is chiefly hunted in "Gringo" is the sheer character and the starkly real emotions of white men of the north and of their Indian and halfbreed environment.

There is a socialist draft-dodger living in exile who hails the peon as "brother" and is eventually all but murdered by him in a spasm of craven fear. There is an upstanding mine expert who loves and is loved by the draft-dodger's wife, yet runs true to his gods of honor as she does.

There is an American squaw-man sodden with drink and with love of his woman. Especially there is his daughter, who is taught to call herself an American, but whose young blood is alive with Indian passion and treachery. Then there is the "revolutionist" bandit, played to the life by Jose Ruben, and his band of Indian and half-breed followers. The whole problem of the two races and their mongrelization is shown in miniature, and is shown with a vitality and a color of reality that make this play for the most part of absorbing novelty and interest.

Mr. Ruben's performance is admirably distinct in outline and vibrant with character. This Tito is insatiable with absurd vanity, greed and all unbridled passion, yet he has a fine trait of the love of freedom and adventure, even at times a strain of aboriginal nobility. To know him may not be to pardon the Mexican bandit, but it certainly gives one a sense of understanding him. Few characterizations have ever been more convincing, more illuminating.

The honors of the evening are amply shared by Edna Hibbard, who again as in "The Bad Man," plays a young half-breed. A character finely imagined and remorselessly psychologized is realized with an unerring power in every shifting mood and an emotional vitality absolutely astounding.

Dondo Puts Over Juvenile Plays

Professor Mathurin M. Dondo, though a native of Brittany and a professor of the French department of the University of California, with a record of professorships in New London, Smith College, and Columbia University, is making a place for himself in American letters. His first volume of children's plays have been out a year. Another volume of drama, this an adaptation of mediaeval folk plays, is just now going through the press, and a second volume of children's plays designed for marionette performance is well under way. Also, because there is no satisfactory text available for college courses in modern French poetry, Professor Dondo is developing as he teaches a text book suitable for instruction and reference in such classes.

The university is particularly fortunate in having secured Mr. Dondo, especially for the contributions he is able to make from the wealth of his dramatic talent and experiences. He is conducting there the only college class in marionette writing offered in America. This class is attracting wide attention and is developing an enthusiastic group of puppeteers. The university has asked Professor Dondo to present annually a Christmas masque at the famous Faculty Club Christmas revels.

Mrs. Dondo is doing interesting work also. Following the lead of her major college interests, history and economics, Mrs. Dondo is preparing a college text on the history of labor which she hopes to publish within the year.

Portia Mansfield Dancers Doing Artistic Work on Keith Circuit

The following very complimentary notice was given the Carmel girls who are playing as headliners on the Keith circuit in the Middle West:

Interpretative dancing such as is often heard about but seldom seen is included in the bill at Keith's this week. Here at last the word artistic can be used without tongue in cheek. The emphasis is on that factor and there is relatively less appeal to the sensual. The number is by Maryon Vadie, dancer, and Ota Gygi, violinist, with a group of girls called the Portia Mansfield dancers.

The poetical interpretation moves easily and does not submerge the interest in what at the moment fills the eye. Here are grace, color, rhythm, music, youth and beauty, all so perfectly blended as to make an alluring motion picture without the flicker. It is all exceedingly well done. It is a pleasure to see a company of girls in a number of this character who have not the well how shall we say it—the hard-boiled look. This number alone would lift the program this week above the mediocre.

Two New Books by the Mavitys

Arthur Mavity and his wife, Nancy Barr Mavity, are about to publish two books. One is of joint authorship entitled "Responsible Citizenship" and is designed as a textbook for junior college and college civics and political science courses. The second book is Mrs. Mavity's first novel which is entitled "Hazard" and which presents among other things the author's reaction to Middle Western American life. This novel is awaited with interest by the wide audience which Nancy Barr Mavity's poetry and critical essays have already attracted.

Splashes and Splutter

The oldest newspaper in the world is the Pao-Pau, or Capital Sheet, published in Peking, China. It was first printed in 1841 A. D.

Last Tuesday morning at Glendale, the residence of John S. McGroarty, famed poet, author and historian, was burned to the ground. Only the library and study were saved.

A beautiful memorial of stone now stands on the spot in the Forest of Compiegne where the armistice terms were drawn up. It represents the German eagle conquered by the sword of justice.

Palo Alto is trying an interesting experiment. Their community players, under the leadership of Richard Bentinck, will bring from San Francisco productions of Sam Hume's Stage Guild. This effort was inaugurated on the evening of December 18, when "Enter Madame" was produced.

Madame Ann Dare, former well-known Carmelite, recently directed the Laguna Beach Players in a very successful dramatic production. As a result of this, there is a movement to form an Orange County Community Theater organization, centering at Laguna Beach, and with traveling companies to give productions elsewhere in the county.

A new book, now on the press, is entitled "The Horse." It is written by William S. Tevis, Jr., prominent clubman and polo player. The book deals with the buying and breaking of horses, teaching kiddies to ride, the requisites of a polo pony, which, Tevis says, are found, not bred, and innumerable details of interest to the lover of horse-flesh.

On New Year's Day at Trinity center in San Francisco the Eisteddfod, the annual musical and literary celebration of the Welsh people, will take place. Welsh music and literature and customs of ancient days will all be revived. The first of these events was held in Camp-tonville, in 1860, when the Welsh miners in the Sierras held their festival, and since then it has been a yearly custom of the local colony.

More Than Two Billion Dollars Worth of Products Manufactured in California Annually

California has already become famous throughout the nation for her climate, her tourists, her scenery, her fruit and her gold.

Yet little has been known of California's industrial wealth, for which she is also destined to become famous.

The aggregate value of the products manufactured in California is more than two billion dollars per year.

And with her expanding harbor facilities, her ample power resources, her proximity to new sources of raw material, and her ideal climate for work and play, California's industrial growth has just begun.

78% of California Oil Refined Here

Petroleum from California wells last year represented a value of $182,400,000. More than 78% of this petroleum was refined in California, the finished products having a value of more than a quarter billion dollars.

Another great industry is the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables. The aggregate value of the finished products runs over the two hundred million dollar mark. Steel shipbuilding almost equals the canning industry in total value of finished products. Meat packing is over the hundred million dollar mark. Flour milling reaches $75,000,000.

Wide Range of Industries

Lumber and timber products, printing and publishing, the production of beet sugar, tanning, currying and finishing of leather, production of tinware, manufacture of confections—all represent industries which return their millions of dollars to California every year.

Few people realize that in addition California manufactures iron and steel, food preparations of various kinds, women's clothing, men's clothing, bags and paper products, furniture, steam, gas and water engines, condensed milk, paints, electrical machinery, soap, cement, tobacco products, and chemicals. Each of these lines of industry represents a total output of more than ten million dollars per year.

And there are dozens of other lines which contribute their millions to the State's total production. A few of these are chocolate and cocoa, automobile bodies and parts, agricultural implements, photographic supplies, explosives, rubber tires, tubes and rubber products, roofing materials, fertilizers, shoes, jewelry, fur goods, etc.

California is a great industrial State as well as a leader in agricultural wealth and natural resources.

Help Us Tell the Nation These Amazing Facts About Our State

This advertisement is one of a series of three, the first devoted to telling of California's agricultural wealth, the second to California's natural resources, and the third to California's industries. These are facts of which you can well be proud.

Beautiful booklets and descriptive literature about California have been prepared by such organizations as Californians, Inc., San Francisco, by the All-Year Club of Southern California, Los Angeles, and by the San Diego-California Club, San Diego.

There are thousands of people in other States who have no conception of California's greatness. Some of them are your friends. Help us tell them.

If you will send to the Southern Pacific Company a list of the names and addresses of your friends, living elsewhere, whom you would like to have receive this series of advertisements as well as the California literature prepared by these organizations, which have for their sole purpose the advertising of California, we will see that your friends get this California literature.

Send Your List Today

Your friends will be glad to know these facts. The list of names you send us will be turned over to your own Chamber of Commerce or other civic organization, and literature will be sent telling them interesting facts about your own particular community.

Simply attach your list to the coupon below and send it to us—no obligation on your part. Do it today before you forget. In this way you will help to spread this message of California's greatness throughout the land and perform a valuable service not only to your State but to yourself and to your community.

Like Manna From Above

Invariably generous in its praise, rich in appreciation of individual, or collective effort, and always in the van of civic and national movements for betterment, the "Pine Cone" is not a little retiring when it comes to a more personal appreciation, which the writer feels it so justly merits.

The "Pine Cone" is unique—as unique as is Carmel itself. It stands alone, for it has no compeers; it is apart from comparison, for there is no other publication to which it can be compared.

It embodies in its title the tang of burning wood, the aroma of resinous pines, and many other of the charms of Carmel. AND, the "Pineconians" are such good fellows, from the "Nut" to the "Kernel." Kind! I should say so! They do some "barking," but no "biting."

Good luck to the Pine Cone and the staff. May the New Year be a very happy and successful one.

A FRIEND OF THE PINE CONE.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved: To save my money

And lead a frugal life.

Resolved: To do my duty

And still abstain from strife.

Resolved: To give up smoking

And never touch a drop.

Resolved: To heed the speed laws

And ne'er offend a cop.

Resolved: To quit complaining

And smile whenever I can.

Resolved: To cease from knocking

And praise my fellow man.

Resolved—but what's the use of

My plunging in so deep?

I've made more resolutions

Than any man could keep.

CENTER PIECE HINT.

To launder heavy embroidered round or oval center pieces, wash and starch quite stiff. While wet, divide into fourths or eighths, place paper on rug and pin to floor, as you would stretch curtains on stretcher. When dry, remove pins, and you will have a center done up beautifully, without any ironing.

Enoch H. Lewis and wife motored up to San Francisco to spend Christmas with Mrs. Hinkleman, Mrs. Lewis' mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blethen left Thursday morning for Los Angeles and San Diego. They will return on January 5th.

Tyrill Harthorn, former proprietor of the Carmel Garage, just back from a trip to the Orient, recently visited his folks here.

Miss Edna Owings returned Christmas eve from a two months' sojourn in Seattle. She says that nothing ever looked as good to her as Carmel.

Miss Margaret Fortier, sister of Mrs. W. L. Overstreet, who has been here during the past fortnight, will return to San Francisco on New Year's day.

Birney W. Adams, who came down from the wilds of Tuolumne county to spend the holidays, has returned to his forest ranger station at Groveland.

Captain Louis Ward has just returned from New York. He leaves shortly for San Francisco, where he is interested in the manufacture and sale of refrigerators.

Frank J. Branch, automobile man of Salinas, has filed in the county clerk's office a certificate reciting that he is conducting business under the fictitious name of The B. & B.

Sullivan scored two successes in the recent general election, as he took an active part in the management of the Richardson and Kerrigan campaigns. Sullivan is a member of the Republican State Committee and is one of the most active party workers in southern California.

Chambers of commerce of four cities in Monterey county have united in a resolution eulogizing the late Senator Elmer S. Rigdon, it was announced last week by President E. M. Grimes of the Monterey chamber. The resolutions passed by the chamber of commerce of Monterey, Pacific Grove, Salinas and King City were identical in wording, and paid a high tribute to the memory of one who labored long and faithfully in the interests of this section of the country.

Please Bring Your Keys

Let's try to learn and remember the jingle of the new post office:
Remember this is Christmas time
So have a heart and please
Don't ask us to get your mail,
But bring your little keys.
This sentiment, like all good ones, applies not only to Christmas time but to all other times. Ask anyone who has been working behind the new postal plate glass.

Miss Anne Bremer, noted artist, is spending Christmas in Carmel.

Miss Elizabeth Strong is spending the holiday in Pasadena with friends.
